Broker Bay Scam Alert

RAHB is warning members that a new Broker Bay scam is taking place. RAHB has received a report from a member who has been contacted via email from an individual attempting to impersonate a real estate agent and book access to one of their listings.

The imposter then continued to call their office and asked to redirect the confirmation email to an alternative email address claiming the other email address on Broker Bay was down.

The listing agent then called the buyer agent to discuss the property prior to the release of access information and he advised that he had never requested a showing and this was the 4th similar call he had received today.

For an example of the email the listing agent received, please view the photo below.
